

First Aid at Work Instructor Re-Qualification Two-Day Update Course

Is your First Aid at Work Instructor qualification about to expire?

Is your Four-Day First Aid at Work Certificate due for renewal?

- Why not consider attending one of Nuco Training's Two-Day First Aid at Work Instructor update courses, and retain both qualifications for a further three years?
- Renewing these qualifications is a cost-effective way of enabling you to deliver First Aid at Work courses, along with a vast range of other First Aid Courses. Both qualifications would continue to be a valuable part of your CV.
- Not only will this course renew your qualifications, but you'll also receive the latest Nuco Training Tutor Pack (complete with the Nuco CD-Rom), fully equipped to deliver the courses.
- The new pack also incorporates all the latest First Aid at Work protocol changes

Note: In order to renew your Instructor qualification for a further three years, it is important to renew it before your existing Four-Day FAW certificate expires (a maximum of 28 days from your actual expiry date)

Please see the enclosed Booking Form for pricing information
